

FUND FOR EDUCATIONAL EXCELLENCE

Realize what's possible.

Lisa Bishop

Director of Programs, Fund for Educational Excellence

Lisa Bishop, Director of Programs, earned an M.B.A. from Loyola College in Baltimore and a B.S. from James Madison University. A former Senior Program Manager for the Fund, she most recently served as Program Manager for the Baltimore Partnership for Equity and brings a range of experience from both the non-profit and public sectors having also worked for Communities In Schools, Inc.®, and the State of Maryland. She started her career as an AmeriCorps VISTA member at the James MacGregor Burns Academy of Leadership, where she directed a statewide youth development program. Part of Ms. Bishop's role includes aligning all of the Fund's programmatic work, including this dedicated secondary school literacy model expansion of Achievement First; overall knowledge management for the Fund; and ensuring that the Fund's priorities continue to support City Schools' key needs and reform goals.